Over the past few months, we've invited readers across the country to tell us all about the companies really making a difference to their businesses over the past year, the votes are in and we can now reveal the winners of the Craft Business Awards 2008/9

Now in their second year, the Craft Business Awards aim to provide members of the craft industry with the opportunity to honour the companies, products and websites making a difference to their working lives. This year's awards received a record number of entries, with people from all over the country taking advantage of the opportunity to have their say. The votes have been counted and the winners of the Craft Business Awards 2008/9 are...
